

The main aim of the Goal no. 1 is to end extreme poverty by 2030.

It's a huge goal! How will we achieve it?

The States that form the global alliance to combat poverty should take steps to achieve this goal and the UN must verify that all States are making an effort.

But what can we do to help?

We all have the right and should have the opportunity to demand that States fulfil their commitments to create a better world for all.

For example, we can find out more about the causes and effects of poverty around the world and become informed global citizens.

We can talk to each other about the issues. We can participate in the consultation processes, to make our voices heard. We can urge our governments to listen to us. We can organise ourselves.

GOAL 1

No Poverty

End poverty in all its forms everywhere

To achieve Goal 1, States have agreed to:

- Ensure that everyone in society is protected against things like unemployment and has access to support services like medical care. This is called social protection and is especially meant to protect and support the poorest and most vulnerable people.
- Ensure resources are allocated to implement social policies that help people who have less money to still have equal access to basic services, labour, land, technology and be able to create companies to grow economically.
- Build the resilience of people with less money so that they are better protected from climate-related extreme events, like floods and droughts, and other economic, social and environmental shocks.

Why is this important for children and young people?
